the fire fighters worst enemy. Of these, more than 216,000 were disposed of in strategic areas where young forests need protecting and in broad strips against prevailing winds where fires would have to be stopped and could be best attacked. The disposing of these snags is a permanent improvement."

OLD ROADS USED

Among other major improvements, the minister said, advantage was taken of many miles of old logging railway and truck grades, which were reconditioned for access to areas of high risk. Approximately ninety miles of these and new road ten miles of trail were built and twenty miles of telephone line constructed.

SCHEME CO-OPERATIVE

The plan of organizing alternative service workers for forest protection in the coastal region of the province was devised at the start of the 1942 fire season to protect essential forest industry. It was conceived with the co-operation of the Dominion Government in response to an appeal from Mr. Gray for assistance in some form.

"At that time," the minister recalled, the Forest branch of the Department of Lands was faced with the imminent possibility of extreme fire risk from enemy action and incendiaryism, while, at the same time, the labor situation offered peculiar and, at first thought, insurmountable difficulties.

In all, about 700 men were assigned for this duty. Mr. Gray said they were mostly farm boys from the Prairies, but other provinces were also represented. Ontario sent 194; Manitoba, 145; Saskatchewan, 106; Alberta, 178, and British Columbia, 81. These men were organized at eighteen strategically situated points on Vancouver Island and the Lower Mainland, where they were thoroughly trained in forest fire fighting methods by officers of the forest service.

RESULTS SUMMARIZED

Now, when the fire season has closed there has been an opportunity to review what has been accomplished. Mr. Gray said in summarizing the results of the plan for forest protection worked out last Spring.

During hazardous periods the crews were held in readiness for immediate action, with trucks loaded and all their necessary equipment ready to move. The average time required to start for a fire after a report was received was about three minutes, the minister said.

"The fire season was, fortunately, unusually favorable, nevertheless these crews attended, to the end of September, 219 fires all of which were successfully fought and on which they spent 8,664 man-days of fire fighting.

When conditions were not so hazardous, during wet spells when humidity was high, the alternative service workers were fully employed on protection improvements and "fire-proofing," which included such work as the felling of snags, those dead standing trees that are

THE WAR TODAY

By JOHN COLLINGWOOD READE

Destruction of Rommel, Montgomery's Objective

So far as it has gone, the British offensive in the Egyptian Desert has been wholly successful and each operation has been carried out ahead of schedule. But the work of the past three days has been of a routine nature in which battle tactics and equipment have not been subjected to the test. Nevertheless, even at this early stage, it is apparent that General Montgomery has built the Eighth Army into a first-class fighting organization, splendidly schooled and full of spirit.

Beginning on Friday night, and continuing through the week-end, the British forces used massed artillery and aircraft bombardment to reduce the enemy's strong points and break up gun positions and barbed wire. Then the infantry moved in through the minefields to occupy enemy positions at the point of a bayonet. Light armored forces were brought up—as fast as the mines could be removed to resist enemy counter-thrusts, while the artillery renewed the process of softening up enemy defence works farther west.

French infantry then filtered through to occupy the new deeper positions, and the work of breaking down the enemy's barricades continued.

CAPTURE MANY PRISONERS
It appears that enemy defence works have been constructed to a depth of four or five miles in places, while some correspondents say that the British advance has averaged five miles over the whole length of the line, which is evidently not the case. A very encouraging feature of the attack to date is that a considerable number of enemy prisoners have been captured, both German and Italian. This indicates swift, perfectly executed operations by the British forces, which were able to trap enemy units defending various points and make it immediately apparent to them that further resistance was useless.

It may take another two days to smash the entire defence system constructed by the Germans and bring the main armored force of the enemy to engagement. Hitherto, aircraft have not been able to win victories over tanks. This, I think, is only because the main battles have always been fought in the open desert, where tanks were well dispersed until the moment for action came, when they suddenly grouped together and locked horns with their adversaries. In the middle of a tank battle it is impossible for aircraft to operate against armored forces because of the general interpenetration which makes it as likely for bombs to fall on friend as foe.

WIDESPREAD OFFENSIVE

In the present battle, things may be different. It is being fought on a narrow front, and the British are pushing their artillery and mobile infantry ahead. If Rommel decides to mass his armored strength to oppose the British advance, aircraft carrying much larger bombs than those hitherto used in the desert will be able to play havoc with the armored formations.

Rommel's chief worry is that his entire system of supply is subject to attack by British warships and aircraft. Allied command of the air and sea leaves hundreds of miles of Axis transport routes exposed to bombs, shells and torpedoes. From the front line back a hundred miles along the coastal railway and the coastal road, fighters and bombers are derailing trains, breaking up motor convoys and touching off fuel and ammunition dumps.

Further afield, medium and heavy bombers are smashing the docks, cranes and warehouses required to receive and unload ships. Across the Mediterranean, British submarines and bombers based on Malta are intercepting the ships as they make their way to North Africa, while still heavier machines based in Egypt and even the British Isles hammer away at the places where the material is made and the ports from which it is shipped.

Obviously, only a fraction of the material originally prepared for use in North Africa finally reaches the fighting front. If it is not destroyed before it starts, it may have to be delayed or rerouted because of damage to the port of embarkation. When it is finally loaded into a ship, it must run the gauntlet of the fleet and the air forces which are constantly patrolling the water in search of enemy shipping. If it survives thus far, the ship may reach port only to find that there are no facilities immediately available for unloading her. And there she is, a fine fat target for the next raiders on their daily visit to Tobruk, Benghazi, Derna or Matruh.

Even so, some of the material gets unloaded and trans-shipped into trucks or headed under its own power toward the fighting front. Along the route it will meet the most concentrated interference of them all, for air attack along the coastal road never ceases by night or by day.

MUST DESTROY ROMMEL
It is almost certain that Rommel will not be able to withstand the impact of the British attack. It would seem that he must retreat. The problem will be to prevent him from making a rapid withdrawal from the corridor in which his forces are now contained. Here, again, and in particular, the possession of overwhelming air power becomes important. A retreat presents terrible problems of transport.

Supplies and materials which have been accumulated over a period of time by trucks and trains must suddenly be removed under pressure. The traffic flows both toward and away from the line in an endless stream. Merciless air bombardment in great concentration cannot help but disorganize the motor convoys and fill their pathways with craters which are difficult to negotiate.

General Montgomery has publicly announced that his mission is to destroy Rommel utterly. To do this he must make sure of preventing his escape. As we found out before, there is a great difference between defeating and destroying the Axis desert force. Rommel's escape may be prevented by any one of several means. Intensive air and sea bombardment might conceivably disor-

MAY ATTACK FROM REAR

It might also be possible to send another army northward from Central Africa to block his path of egress and attack him in the rear. Finally, forces might be landed under the protection of aircraft and ships of the fleet at some point on the coast between Matruh and Benghazi, which would sweep in behind him. Any one of these operations can be expected before many days have gone by.

The new offensive in Egypt comes at a critical time, when the Germans are making their last desperate attempt to capture Stalingrad and drive down to the Gironde oil fields before Winter sets in. At present, the Russians seem able to hold the enemy on all fronts, and the Germans have not shown that they can strike telling blows in the three main battle sectors in Southern Russia at the same time. Now that their armies in North Africa are threatened with annihilation, the reservoir of supplies in Southeastern Europe will not be available to replace their losses in Russia, and the diversion of aircraft from the Russian to the Mediterranean front is almost inevitable.

WOULD EXPOSE BALKANS
Moreover should the Germans fail to rescue their North African forces, their whole Balkan front becomes exposed, and they must prepare against the possibility of attack in Southeastern Europe through the Aegean or the Adriatic Sea, where great masses of the Balkan population will be waiting to receive them, and are only too willing to rise up against their German masters. The Germans are not blind to this possibility, and the defeat of Rommel would immediately put a stop to all German offensive operations in Russia because of the necessity of covering their exposed southern flank.

TRUCK RULING
DELAYED MONTH
No Limit on Area for Private Vehicles Until November 30

OTTAWA, Oct. 28 (CP)—An order prohibiting the operation of private commercial motor vehicles more than thirty-five miles from their registered address will not become effective until November 30, James Stewart, administrator of services for the prices board announced today. It was originally to be in force from November 1.

A similar order restricting bus travel to fifty miles still is to be effective November 18 and British Columbia bus routes which will be affected will be announced Monday.

Mr. Stewart said the amendment in the truck order will enable the heavy movement of goods which normally takes place just before Winter sets in to proceed without interruption, and will give private operators an opportunity to make adjustments to conform to the requirements of any permit which will be issued to them on and after November 30.

The administrator emphasized that no further extension of time will be granted.

Recommends Bonus For Civic Employees

Board of Arbitration Suggests Payments and Increases and Restoration of Salaries in Full—
Would Cost Less Than $10,000

A BOARD of arbitration investigating a dispute between the City of Victoria and certain of its employees has recommended the payment of a cost-of-living bonus to employees in higher wage brackets and a bonus increase to employees in lower brackets. It was also suggested that salary cuts made in 1932 and 1933 be restored in full.

Employees who will benefit if the awards are adopted are those employed in the fire department, police commission, public library, and school board with the exception of teachers.

The cases of the various groups were considered separately and the findings were disclosed yesterday by Hon. G. S. Pearson, Minister of Labor.

To employees receiving $2,100 or more a year the board has recommended the Dominion's Government's cost-of-living bonus which now amounts to sixty cents a week. To employees receiving less than $2,100 annually the board has recommended for single persons a bonus increase of $2.50, from $5 to $7.50, and to married persons a bonus of $5, from $10 to $15.

All groups had applied for a bonus of $15.50 a month regardless of salary or marital status.

MADE NO APPLICATION

In the case of teachers it was noted in the findings that "This award does not apply to teachers employed by the Victoria City School Board as these persons made no application for conciliation and arbitration."

It was estimated by the board that the cost of paying the bonuses this year, retroactive to March, would be "well under" $10,000.

To avoid the "likelihood of the city budget again being disrupted after the tax rate has been set," the board recommended that provision be made for a meeting of representatives of employees and a representative committee of the City Council to discuss what bonus, if any, might be properly payable during the year.

In considering the terms of the dispute, it was pointed out by the board members that they did not feel called upon to deal with the "propriety or impropriety of payment of cost-of-living bonuses to civic employees," as the dispute involved only the amount of such bonus.

FEELING OF "INJUSTICE"

"It became clear in the course of the evidence and argument that certain salary deductions, made in the years 1932 and 1933 had not been restored in full—the difference amounts to only a fraction of 1 per cent of certain salaries, but has caused some feeling of injustice in the minds of those affected," the report stated.

"This matter is, of course, quite outside the scope of the dispute submitted to the board; however the board feels that it is proper for it to make a recommendation that this error in calculation be rectified as of November 1, 1942, and that the salary rates in question be restored in full. The amount involved is very small and there appears no doubt but that the city will reap many times its benefit by virtue of the feeling of well-being which will be engendered by such a course."

Comprising the arbitration board were J. Howard Harman, chairman; E. F. Fox and P. R. Brown.

Britain's help, are now fighting in Egypt. The Greek navy is active in the Mediterranean and Greek merchantmen play a part in the battle of the oceans. Resistance inside Greece has downed important Axis forces.

The German threat to France to be fulfilled if French workers do not become labor slaves in Nazi armament factories, says the diplomatic correspondent of The Times, now takes the form of permanent annexation of the occupied zone. Apparently the Nazis are becoming desperate over their shortage of skilled workers. They lost more than three million men killed and maimed in Russia and France is now their only reservoir for manpower. So eager is the Vichy Government to prevent the truth about the war reaching unoccupied France from Switzerland that it has stopped all independent Swiss journals entering the country.

From Czechoslovakia, whose independence was proclaimed twenty-four years ago today, come reports of long queues of hungry women seeking food in empty shops, hospitals overflowing with people suffering from deficiency and diseases, riots and sabotage even under constant threat of death, one hundred and fifty thousand Czechs held in concentration camps, suppression of education and forcible Germanization. German soldiers, it is reported, desert wholesale, fearing especially to be sent back to the Russian front. Hospitals in some places are full of armless and legless Nazis who survived the last Russian Winter.

VICTORIA WITH LOAN LEADERS

Canada's Total for First Eight Days Exceeds Last
Bond Drive

OTTAWA, Oct. 28 (CP).—The National War Finance Committee announced tonight that 401,492 subscribers had contributed a total of $414,583,900 to Canada's Third Victory Loan up to the close of business Tuesday, the cumulative numerical total of subscribers exceeding by 43,411 that of the last loan in its first eight business days.

The committee attributed the increase in subscribers to a "realer" interest in the subscriptions of factory, store and office workers under the payroll savings plan.

On Tuesday, 78,337 Canadians subscribed to the loan, and of these 23,535 were employees, whose dollar total for the day was $2,209,900. The total of all subscriptions for Tuesday alone, eighth day of the canvass, was $47,618,850, one of the three lowest daily returns since the campaign began.

The campaign, with a minimum objective of $750,000,000, closes at the end of next week.

MOOSE JAW GAINS

With subscriptions mounting to 124 per cent of its objective, Moose Jaw, Sask., has slightly increased its lead over Lethbridge, Alta., which now has accounted for 119 per cent of its quota. In third position among the larger municipalities reporting to national headquarters is Hull, Que., with 103 per cent of quota.

Latest returns from other centres are: Winnipeg, 85 per cent of quota; Ottawa, 83 per cent; Victoria, 77 per cent; Sherbrooke, 72 per cent; Edmonton, 69 per cent; Halifax, 67 per cent; Sydney, 66 per cent; Saskatoon, 65 per cent; Saint John, N.B., and Burnsville, P.E.I., each 63 per cent; Montreal and Regina, each 59 per cent; Charlottetown, 58 per cent; Calgary, 57 per cent; Vancouver, 55 per cent; Moncton, 54 per cent; and Quebec, 46 per cent.

Further evidence of the way in which the Armed Forces are subscribing to the loan comes from Toronto, where officers and men of No. 1 Manning Depot of the R.C.A.F. have invested a total of $28,850. And the canvass is still proceeding.

BENNETT PLEASED

At Ottawa today, Vincent Bennett smiled his satisfaction that a young Calgary student who recently won the Vincent Bennett Scholarship of $100 had bought Victory Bonds with the proceeds. "I'm glad indeed that he invested his prize in Victory Bonds," said the former Canadian Prime Minister.

For the past twenty years, Vincent Bennett has presented scholarships to four Calgary students, two boys and two girls, who attain the best marks in graduating from Grades VIII and XII, respectively.

When a Calgary woman objected to being canvassed for Victory Loan on a Sunday, the National War Finance Committee representative recalled to her that it was on the Lord's Day that the Nazis invaded Poland and the Japanese wrecked Pearl Harbor with their bombs. The woman bought a $500 bond.

The owner of a small tailoring establishment in Calgary fished out $479 in cash from an old cigar box—the only money he had in the world. He told the Victory Loan canvasser to put him down for $500 worth of bonds and that he would manage somehow to raise the $21 balance.

Many new Canadians are purchasing bonds.

possible some substance will have to be provided if sufficient work cannot be found for them during the winter.

At Slokan, B.C., the largest housing project accommodated 4,128 Japanese September 30, and was expected eventually to house another 700. There were 2,100 at Fourteen-Mile Ranch, Tashme, B.C., and it was planned to move 1,000 of the Japanese remaining in Vancouver to that centre where all construction, except a hospital, was scheduled for completion by the end of October.

Other housing projects are located at Greenwood, Sandon, Karlo and New Denver.

Up to September 30, 3,982 were placed on sugar beet farms—2,578 in Alberta, 1,053 in Manitoba and 351 in Ontario. It was estimated 90 per cent of these families have earned sufficient money to carry them through the winter season without maintenance. Work of preparing for winter weather, the houses occupied by Japanese in Alberta and Manitoba is being rushed to completion.

In addition to these projects, 1,265 Japanese have been given special permits to accept employment and are self-supporting, working on farms, in domestic employment or in industries. They make periodic reports to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

BRITISH WIN IN FIRST ASSAULTS

"We know by now there may be a gap or gaps through which our main armor may be able to deploy," he commented, that the British forces had made "good progress in the north, where three objectives allotted to them mostly have been gained and held."

Even before joining the action, Rommel's main tank forces were under attack at their gathering points back of the line by R.A.P. and United States bombers and fighter-bombers which swept the front and ranged back to the port of Matruh.

In the biggest aerial struggle of the day, twenty German Messerschmitt 109s, twenty German Stukas and twenty CR-42 Italian fighters tried to intercept a flight of Allied fighter-bombers returning from an attack of the Daba landing ground.

Heavily outnumbered, Allied fighter pilots roared into the melee. The guns of the British, American and South African fighter bombers accounted in this fight for ten of the eighteen Axis planes downed during the day.

EFFECTIVE AIR POWER

The growing weight of air power on the side of the United Nations is making itself felt now in tense and hard-fought decisions on the ground. On the western front the United Nations have been in a dominant position for some time, and have used that superiority to good effect to scarify the enemy-occupied coast, to halt rail and sea transport, and to bomb express objectives almost at will. Compared with German losses in the Battle of Britain, United Nations' losses have been insignificant in this; and German air defences have been spread very thinly over a huge front.

In Egypt today the same trend is clearly noticeable. It is no secret now that it was adequate air cover that enabled the British Eighth Army to stop the western plunge of Rommel's Army some months ago when the Axis plunged at the southern end of the El Alamein line, and ran into a British trap. Although without using his heavy armored units, General Auchinleck brought that attack to a standstill, with punishing losses to the enemy. Now on the attack, the British Eighth Army is well served by an air screen in which British, United States and Allied aircraft are taking an effective part.

The character of the fighting tells the story well. Stuka bombers, attacking forward positions at dusk, were cut to ribbons this week by ground fire from the British lines. Axis tank concentrations at two points were dispersed by direct attack from the air. Enemy motor convoys on the roads were set on fire; and their air cover brushed aside, as if it had not existed. Shipping in harbor and at sea has been set on fire, and put down. That mounts up.

In addition, however, there has been the result of firm regional control of the skies. United Nations' headquarters have been apprised of every move taken by the enemy, before it has had time to develop. Troops on the ground—infantry fighting out in advance of their covering tanks—have been cheered and heartened by an air support that was visible, aggressive and intensely destructive to the enemy, from his forward posts to his most remote base in Libya. For a long, long time, we have waited for just that. Now it has come, and with it something better than the possibility of successful counter thrusts. If not yet an assurance of an outright decision in North Africa.

In the Solomons also, though less detailed information is as yet available, it would appear that time and again United States and Australian planes have dealt the aggressors heavy and cumulative blows. There again enemy concentrations have been broken up, land attacks impeded, and naval units beset and harried by sea. The toll in Japanese planes alone in the last seven days now has topped the 100 mark. That is significant, and augurs well for the ultimate success of Allied arms in the general engagement which has been for some days developing. Meanwhile, far behind Japanese lines, Hongkong has been bombed, as a reminder that Japan, too, has a home front.

It is too early yet to estimate what this growing predominance of air power will mean to the United Nations next Spring. On the eastern front there is still great need of aerial support for our Russian allies; and it was encouraging news this week that Royal Air Force squadrons were taking a fresh hand in that work. Some are on convoy patrol in the Arctic circle, where the main supply route to Russia from the West has been held steadily open against all attack.

There is a vast difference between regional air superiority, and control of the air on all fronts. The United Nations are well on the road to establishing the former; and are building towards the latter as fast and as steadily as that may be done. The real turn in this war will be on that day when our machines in the air on every front hold the edge over any combination possible to the enemy. For that, factory production is vital, and our factories are in the front line as fully as if they were one and all under fire.

What has really happened between 1918 and 1939 is that the sea itself has taken on a larger and more universal surface; and that the crown of ships, and the observation posts of armies, are now five miles up in the sky. We have known that for long, but now we are building to it, and that is of great importance. Regional air power has won for us our first victories, and they are but stepping stones to the greatest victory of all—an assured and just peace.

A BALANCED CHOICE

The elevation of Mr. E. C. Carson, Conservative member for Lillooet in the Twentieth Legislature, to Cabinet rank, with direction of the dual portfolios of Mines and Industry, will prove to be a popular selection; not alone an honor to a straightforward and well-informed British Columbian, but a nicely balanced choice within the ranks of the Coalition Ministry itself.

The appointment of a Conservative to succeed a Conservative at the Ministries of Mines and Industry maintains the good faith that has been demonstrated by the Coalition Administration under Premier John Hart, from its inception less than a year ago. In Cabinet circles, the addition of a voice from British Columbia central interior will be a gain. Among Liberals, Mr. Ernest Carson is well known and thoroughly liked. On all counts, the selection would seem to be admirable.

Mr. Carson, the sitting member for Lillooet in the present Legislature, was also a member of the Seventeenth Legislative Assembly, when he was a whip of his party's group in the House. In two assemblies, he has established a reputation for deliberation and thought; added to which is something more than a common ability to bring men together and to induce them to agree. Quietly spoken and unobtrusive, Mr. Carson is also a true British Columbian. His career as a Minister of the Crown, now opening, will be watched with interest by his friends, and they are legion.

TURN OF THE TIDE

The rising desperation of the German attack upon Stalingrad, coupled with the stoppage of the enemy's main thrusts for seven days in succession, and the counter-infiltration of the Russians into positions formerly held in this siege, all point to a turn in the tide at the Volga city. After sixty days of concentrated and reinforced effort the attackers are staring at a blank defeat, the second and perhaps the most important one on the eastern front in two years. Northeast of Tula the Germans are cut off and partially surrounded; and at Moscow their renewed offensive has been stalled. It will be a miracle now if the Germans can take Stalingrad this year.

Fighting within the next few days must either bear out that assumption more fully or else indicate such a complete reversal of the last few weeks that new factors will have entered the case. At present none are signalled, and the enemy's drive is thing visibly; with the initiative slowly but steadily passing to the hard-fighting Russian armies of the Ukraine. The one imponderable in the picture is the weather; for after the present period of rain and mud will come the short, sharp cold that freezes the surface of the ground before snow falls sufficiently to impede field manoeuvres. In that period, the Germans may reform their lines and try again.

If that eleventh-hour thrust can be held, Germany will have taken little out of her whole year's campaign in the east but losses, and a growing sense of frustration and defeat. For the present, reports from Stalingrad are favorable to our Allies, and so parallel the results before Moscow last year that the comparison, with its ultimate conclusion, must inevitably be drawn. Critical days lie immediately ahead, but the defenders' chances are brighter with hope than they have been since the present battle started.

NOT SO SLOW

Democracy and democratic institutions have often, in this war of ideologies, been accused of being ineffectual and slow. At times the accusation seems to fit the condition of the moment, or one particular phase of a complex and many-aided endeavor. In the end, however, democracies, even the slowest of them, have a way of getting things done, and that through the conviction of the people, and not by their suppression. Canada's Third Victory Loan is a case in point, and it is clear now that it will go over the top.

Entirely apart from the value of bonds as a safe and reinforced investment, distinct even from Canada's urgent needs at this time, there have been a combination of wills and a confirmation of hearts throughout the land to do this thing, and to do it well. Advertisers have given the bulk of their daily space to it. Private individuals have worked at it long hours, without remuneration. Corporations have turned themselves into bankers for the benefit of their employees. Each has had something to contribute to the common whole.

That is an achievement in itself. It is one of the more obscure, but always latent, strengths of the democratic way of life. Because, if Canada did not believe in this campaign it would not be going over. If people did not believe in Canada, it would be impossible. The result, when it matures, will not only be a long step forward in the war effort of this country, but it will set Canada up a little higher on the roll of those nations which believe in the democratic way of life. For here, all are working, and each according to their ability, their assets and their years. Democracy may often be slow; but then, too, it is often the surer for that.

PRACTICAL COMMENTARY

Two paragraphs in a report by Dr. C. S. Beals, of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, upon the light haze over the city of Victoria, touch the crux of the dim-out problem, and treat of it so clearly that their repetition is in the public interest at this time. The entire report, for that matter, is a studied and worth-while contribution to the matter in hand. The following paragraphs, however, set out the meat of the argument succinctly. Dr. Beals said:

"The glow in the sky produced by city lights may, under certain circumstances, be even more dangerous for shipping than the direct lights, as it can be seen at distances from shore which would place the direct city lights below the horizon. The sum total of sky glow from a well-lighted city would surpass the effect of many searchlights, and the diffuse character of the glow would make it a particularly effective background for silhouetting objects at sea."

"It would appear that sky glow can be practically completely eliminated without serious interference with ordinary street lighting. All that is necessary is for each light to be shielded in such a way that all direct rays are kept below the horizontal level. This rule applies to lights in all parts of the city, since, obviously, a ship at sea cannot distinguish between a sky glow behind the city and a similar glow in front or directly above."

Dr. Beals continues in his report with practical suggestions applying to the actual condition to be met in the Greater Victoria area. There is in this not only a good deal of practical help with a problem that is now one of prime importance, but also some worth-while and clear-headed advice as to what should be done about it. It is informed and timely comment.

UP-HILL

Does the road wind up-hill all the way?
Yes, to the very end.
Will the day's journey take the whole long day?
From morn to night, my friend.

But is there for the night a resting place?
A roof for when the slow dark hours begin.
May not the darkness hide it from my face?
You cannot miss that inn.

Shall I meet other wayfarers at night?
Those who have gone before.
Then must I knock, or call when just in sight?
They will keep you standing at that door.

Shall I find comfort, travel-sore and weak?
Of labour you shall find the sum.
Will there be beds for me and all who seek?
Yes, beds for all who come.

—Christina Rossetti.

He who would pass the declining years of his life with honor and comfort, should, when young, consider that he may one day become old, and remember, when he is old, that he has once been young.—Addison.

Note and Comment

By SANDHAM GRAVES

"Ye haven't a bit av' say about ye, boy?"

"I started me day on three cups av' coffee, but I can't make it taste like tat, nobow," my friend replied, insinuating himself into the victor's chair.

"What I can't understand, boy, is how they can have two ounces av' tat in Great Britain, where there have been ructions for three years, and we can only find one ounce here in Canada,ivin' thousands miles away, as ye might say?"

"You might say, Macool, but where does that get you? I had started the day on coffee too, and liked it as little!"

"Well, I suppose we will live through it. Oney, wouldn't it be grand if the powers that be discovered that we could have two ounces av' tat, takin' away with another an' a little more tat out of the storage chest? After all, boy, India can't have tat that bad! Sugar, posin' now, we asked, polite like, the wata that are fighting on our side, don't ye think that they'd let us have a bit av' tat? Coffee oney reminds me of what I haven't had."

Shamus stopped, and I pushed my tobacco pouch over to him. He reached out a hand the size of a fair-sized ham for it, but then pushed it back, unopened.

"I'll not be after smoking, thank ye, but I'm now. If it's tobacco, I'm wakin' it was; and if it's tat, I'm wonderin' where me next ration is comin' from. But coffee is the worst, boy. It looks like tat, until ye smell it. What they're goin' to do at the front I don't know. No waver I've won a war on coffee yet. I'm certain sure av' tat!"

"Your ancestors had no tea, Shamus, I told him."

"Is it Fynn Macool ye meanin'?"

Faith, then, Fynn never lacked for anything! If there was tat to be had, he would have had it; an' a lot av' it too, for he was a great giant av' a fella. Last thing I remember me mother tellin' me was, 'Shamus, remember yer ancestors. They never left the spoon in the cup when they were drinkin'!' "

"Have a heart, Shamus. How can I work with yer dinning tea into my mind?" I pleaded.

"Tat, is it? An' where can ye get it, I'm askin' ye? I've used all av' me coupons up to this present minnow; an' the grocer said to me this mornin', 'Macool, ye'll just have to go back and grow a little more before I can give ye any more.' Come back next month, and I'll see what I can do for ye. Next month, I'll be av' tat first; an' I'll be, boy, like as if I'm goin' to die!"

With that Shamus shuffled off; but somehow the subject of the conversation lingered. As it was nearly luncheon time, I followed my own suggestion and sought a lunch counter. I wish I hadn't. Shamus was on the next stool to mine, and I hadn't noticed that he was drinking coffee—with the air of a mad dog who was hungry for a meal. Who was right for the murder, as my mother would say, as if we were mortal enemies. Then he leaned over and blurted in my ear: "If ye ask for tat, I'll brain ye! They haven't anny tat!" I ordered milk. After all, with milk, you can imagine the rest.

NEARLY COMPLETE

VANCOUVER, Oct. 28 (CP)—Officials of the British Columbia Security Commission said today that evacuation of Japanese from Vancouver and nearby Burnaby will be almost completed by the end of the week. About 400 Japanese entrained this morning for interior British Columbia points and the remainder, with the exception of those granted special extension permits, will be removed by Saturday.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

From The Daily Colonist of October 29, 1892.

A Stereoscopic Exhibition—On Monday evening an interesting lecture will be given in the Centennial Methodist Church by N. Shakespeare, who will illustrate his talk with stereoscopic views. The subject is "Around the World in 100 Minutes." The slides which will be used are all new ones, colored and very accurate, being the best obtainable. They show scenes in Great Britain, China and Japan, Honolulu and the United States. When the journey is about half completed, there will be a brief intermission during which time a short programme of vocal music will be heard.

An Enjoyable Soiree—A very enjoyable soiree was held at the pleasant parlors of Mrs. Mayo-Steele on Sunday evening last. The audience was quite equal to the amount of space, and was very attentive and appreciative. After invocation and singing, the medium, under control, delivered a short discourse. Then about an hour was spent in giving tests to the audience.

Everyone Well Pleased—The Victoria West Amateurs gave second and third performances of "Wee Wee" or "The Lost Mine" yesterday afternoon and evening. The audiences were large, the play ran smoothly and all concerned were satisfied.

EXTENDS THANKS

Sir—Will you please accept my thanks and convey the same to "Vancover Scoop" for so kindly thinking of me in sending you the cutting from The Glasgow Bulletin, of my daughter, Miss Kythe Mackenzie, on her arrival in Britain in September. It was a kindly action and I very much appreciated it. I would like to get in touch with the party when next I am in Vancouver, but I see they have no address at the letter head.

NORA C. MACKENZIE, Cowichan Bay, Ins., Vancouver Island, B.C., October 28, 1942.

"THE ORIGINAL CAUSE"

Sir—In your editorial "An Ancient Grudge" you attempted to throw new light on the cause which prompted the American revolution. The following taken from the Congressional Record (75) may prove illuminating:

"Benjamin Franklin, on being asked in Great Britain how he accounted for the prosperous condition of the Colonies, said: 'That is simple. It is only because in the Colonies we issue our own money. It is called colonial scrip, and we issue it in the proportion to the demand of trade and industry.' 'It was not very long until this information was brought to the Rothschild's bank, and they saw that here was a nation that was ready to be exploited; here was a nation that had been setting up an example that they could issue their own money in place of the money coming through the banks. So the Rothschild Bank caused a bill to be introduced in the English Parliament which provided that no colony of England could issue their own money. They had to use English money. Consequently the Colonies were compelled to discard their scrip and mortgage themselves to the Bank of England in order to get money. For the first time in the history of the United States, our money began to be based on debt.' And the shrewd comment of the Rothschild of that day was: 'Permit me to issue and control the money of a nation, and I care not who makes it laws.'"

And John Adams (who whom you refer) in a letter to Thomas Jefferson: "All the perplexities, confusion, and distress in America arise, not from defects in the Constitution or confederation, not from want of honor or virtue, but from the too great dependence of the people on the government, from the too great love of the power, from the too little regard to the rights of the people, from the too little knowledge of the nature of civil liberty, and from the too little spirit of resistance to the abuse of power. And Jefferson's warning: 'If the American people ever allow private banks to control the issuance of their currency, first by inflation and then by deflation, the banks, and corporations that will grow up around them, will deprive the people of all their property until they have no more than their shirt on their backs.'"

Yesterday marked the halfway point in the Third Victory Loan campaign with Vancouver Island still leading the Dominion average, which approximated 50 per cent of the national objective. Victoria's general canvass is a little more than half complete with practically all of the substantial subscriptions anticipated already recorded. Up Island, the canvass is a little more advanced, but by no means complete.

Bamfield reported last night that it had overtaken its quota, which gave an added credit to the Alberni West Coast district, which has been outstanding in its response. Throughout the Island, canvassers feel that the hard part of the drive is ahead of them, but they appreciate the very small subscription adds to the general fund and are concentrating on the small investor for the remaining ten days.

By G. B.

Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., president of the vast rubber company bearing his name, recently stated during an interview at Akron, Ohio: "Winning the war is our job. Job right now. Postwar planning is all right in its proper perspective, but unless we win this war we will have little to say about what our future economy will be." From The Financial Post we culled the following item: "Postwar planning is not a thing of tomorrow; it is a thing of today."

We are right now up against these problems and we know what many of them are. . . . From a reader: "There seems to be a lot of home talk about the forthcoming dim-out, and even a few sneers from the chumps who sneer. 'It can't happen here.' I noticed the following account about a Nas U-boat commander: 'The ideal method of attack, according to Loewenstein, is to rise to the surface at night, preferably when there is just enough moon or short-light glare to give a good silhouette of the target. Then he uses his guns furiously, pumping shells into everything he can see, his whole pack of U-boats firing together. Then his submarine flotilla submerges and scatters in divergent courses that confuse listening posts so that destroyers do not know the exact spot over which to make their run.' . . . From E. V. Durling's column: 'There is sufficient whisky left in the United States to provide for five years of normal drinking. It is too bad that people drink more in wartime. In times of war the idea is to keep in the best possible condition in order to be able to stand the rough times.' . . . Two shipwrecked sailors were floating around the ocean on a life raft with no land in sight when one of them exclaimed: 'Look, there are some bombing planes. We cannot be far from civilization now.' . . . King County residents in Washington State contributed 67,462,000 pounds of scrap metal in a recent two-week drive."

squarely confronts the Conservative party such as never before has been given a political group in Canada, Howard

Green, M.P. (Vancouver South). Addressing the Victoria Conservative Association in its rooms at 738 Fort Street, Mr. Green shared the speakers' platform with Hon. Herbert Anscomb, Minister of Public Works in the British Columbia Government.

Able leadership in Canada is urgently needed, he declared, if the identity of the individual is to be preserved and the nation is to be rescued from a Government which, powerless to help itself, grows more bureaucratic every day.

"Conservatives are faced with a challenge, are being given an opportunity to serve the nation that no party has ever been given before. It is an opportunity to supply leadership to serve the Canadian people, not to obtain power," he asserted.

The opportunity will only be realized, he said, if delegates to the national convention meet the challenge by selecting a strong leader.

DELEGATES NAMED

The convention will be held in Winnipeg early in December, and at the meeting last night delegates were elected to represent the Victoria association. They were chosen as follows: Gordon Cameron, J. L. Mara and W. H. M. Haldane; alternates, Mrs. E. J. Harris, Mrs. A.

CRITICAL OF LIBERALS

This kind of leadership, he contended, is not being given by the Liberal administration of Prime Minister Mackenzie King. Criticizing that Government he said: "It isn't a Liberal Government, it is a Mackenzie King Government. And the tragedy for Canada in the present war is the type of leadership supplied by Mackenzie King."

He saw little hope that the C.C.F. party would be likely to supply the kind of leadership needed. Recalling that party's stand on conscription and war expenditures he believed the tendency would be "the other way."

"They offer a type of mind that is hard for us to understand," he said. "Frankly, I don't think they are in the war wholeheartedly. They are looking for that happy hunting ground across the river."

Meanwhile, he said, the tendency in Canada is to push the individual farther and farther into the background. The tendency is to push the individual farther and farther into the background. The tendency is to push the individual farther and farther into the background. The tendency is to push the individual farther and farther into the back-

BUTTER PRICES UP ON MONDAY

Believe Some Being Held Off
Market to Benefit by Increase

OTTAWA, Oct. 28 (C.P.)—Reports that butter supplies are limited in stores in several cities, although stocks and production are good, led informed sources to suggest today that some butter is being held from the market to benefit from a higher price which will go into effect on November 1.

Under the Prices Board regulations covering butter, the wholesale price may rise three-quarters of a cent a pound in November—a price adjustment designed to compensate producers for higher feeding costs.

Board officials declined comment on reports of butter shortages in some cities, but J. Gordon Taggart, foods administrator, said yesterday he could see no reason for rationing butter with production improved during the last few months and good stocks on hand.

Creameries and wholesalers in Winnipeg reported abnormal purchases of butter followed rumors of an impending ration order, but action by the creameries and wholesalers stopped the run. They refused to supply retailers with more than a normal supply.

BORN WITH THE WAR...

A better white flour... that brings you most of the VITAMIN B-COMPLEX of the whole wheat berry

VITAMIN B-COMPLEX is concentrated in the germ and certain layers of the whole wheat kernel. Yet these parts rich in vitamins were largely removed in milling former white flours. "Cold Roll Milling" retains most of the vitamin B-complex found in these parts. The new Kitchen Craft Vitamin B White Flour gives you 5 times more vitamin B than pre-war patent white flours!

IT USED to be that the B vitamins stored in whole wheat were largely lost in milling patent white flour. Came the war—and the urgent need for national fitness. With it came the government's insistence that every Canadian get a full quota of nutritious vitamin B-complex every day.

So we developed a new way to mill white flour—a way that retains most of the natural B vitamins so richly stored in the wheat kernel. Result is our new improved white flour milled to the government's own standards—KITCHEN CRAFT VITAMIN B WHITE FLOUR (Canada approved).

It contains 5 times as much vitamin B₁ (thiamin) as pre-war white flours. (You get at least 400 International units in every pound.) It contains more riboflavin, too.

More niacin. More of all the other natural B-complex vitamins of whole wheat.

Mind you, Kitchen Craft Vitamin B White Flour is not a special flour. It's the same high quality white flour you're accustomed to using in all your home baking. With the added richness and nourishment of the natural B vitamins. It actually improves your baking. Adds a good wheaty taste to your breads and cakes and pies.

Try it and see. Kitchen Craft Vitamin B White Flour has already won thousands of enthusiastic users. Canada milled, it is the best quality all-purpose home-type flour... fluffy light in texture... creamy white in color. Guaranteed to give you perfect results in all of your regular white flour recipes—or your money back.

As a compromise between the slim and the voluminous, this long torso dress of rayon and metallic banded crepe matched to monotone crepe is a happy choice. Beautifully formal and graceful in line, it is worn with long gloves in the color of the dress, and goes happily to every formal occasion. The flowing lines of the skirt are becoming to most figure types, and the styling of the dress is simple enough to make it wearable again and again. It requires no ornaments to give it importance, so rich is the combination of these fine rayon fabrics.

Miss K. Ellis To Speak to Nurses Here

Great interest is evidenced in nurses' circles at the news of the return to this city of Miss Kathleen Ellis, R.N., emergency nursing adviser to the Canadian Nurses' Association, who will fly here from Ottawa, and address a meeting of nurses and others interested at the Empress Hotel at the close of the British Columbia hospitals convention on November 3.

Miss Kathleen Ellis was in charge of military hospitals at Esquimaux during the last war, and later was superintendent at the Vancouver General Hospital for some years. She was born in Penticton, B.C., and is a professor of nursing at the registrar of nurses for that province. She has been lent to the Canadian Nurses' Association and is making a survey of nursing conditions in Canada, and the shortage of civilian nurses. Her address will deal with this problem.

Weddings

MAINGUY—CASTLEY

DUNCAN, Oct. 28.—A pretty wedding was solemnized at St. John's Church, Duncan, at 12:30 today, when Rev. H. T. Archibald united in marriage Lorna Rosalind, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Castley, Duncan, and Sub-Lieutenant James Wishart Mainguy, R.C.N.V.R., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Mainguy, of Duncan.

The church was attractively decorated by friends of the bride in rose, gold and white chrysanthemums. Mrs. S. H. Hoskins was at the organ. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a becoming dressmaker suit in a prairie rose shade, a bronze sweetheart hat with a small veil, brown accessories and a corsage bouquet of pink rosebuds and white-heather.

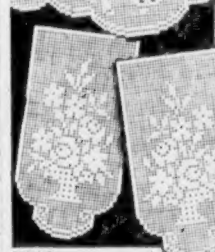

The bridegroom was in a dark suit of midnight blue with a white shirt and a white bow tie. The wedding party included the bride's sister, Miss Bernice Castley, whose pretty dressmaker suit of midnight blue was worn with a bonnet-brim blue felt hat and a corsage of roses and white carnations.

Anglican Young People

ST. JOHN'S

Members of St. John's A.Y.P.A. were hosts to about sixty young people including St. Alban's A.Y.P.A. on the occasion of their Halloween costume party on Tuesday. The schoolroom was cleverly decorated to create a Halloween atmosphere by a committee under Eileen Ellis and proved varied and entertaining. The winners of the musical lapp game were Jack Ward and Betty Matthews. The judges, members of the R.A.P., had difficulty in choosing the three best costumes from among the many charming and distinctive ones. The winners finally picked were: Doreen Riches, the prettiest; Doreen Levack, the most comical; and Jack Sutton, the most original.

The boys then ducked for apples and discovered their supper partners name on their apple. A buffet supper was served from a table decorated in orange and black, with a huge cauldron and fire in the middle. The convener and her committee are to be congratulated on making the party such an enjoyable success. These helping Eileen Ellis were Joan Brice, Cora Mantion, Mary Wilkinson, Daphne Gill, Ernie Stein and Ernie McNair. The next meeting will be the initiation of new members. Corporate Communion will be held Sunday, November 1, and an executive meeting will be held November 2 at Mary Wilson's home.

Old Seaport Caters To Needs of Today

Port in Northern Ireland "Turnabout" Point for Canadian Ships of War—Vessels on Combat Duty Can Get Anything Done

PORT IN NORTHERN IRELAND, Oct. 28 (CP).—This old seaport which once catered to the needs of Britain's "wooden walls" and guarded those sailing ships when they sheltered under the town's hillside guns, now is the "turnabout" point for His Majesty's Canadian ships of war on the North Atlantic convoy run.

It is a port with hills, shining in their greenness in the late Autumn sun or shrouded in shifting mists on less clement days.

Young Canadian Navy men say it is a rougher, tougher and grimmer spot to put into than any east coast Canadian port.

FAST TURNABOUT

Not always, of course, do Canadian warships come this far when they are on the North Atlantic convoy route. But when they do they reach a port where United States authorities look after them and give them the fastest possible turnabout for passage to the other side of the sea.

You get a feeling of urgency from the mere manner in which warships are tied up at the slips here. In some cases they ride two and three abreast, huddling at their anchorage in their war paint while seamen renew the camouflage and workmen attend to gear.

Nobody ever mentions the names of vessels. Some of them are well known and respected for their part in action at sea.

Here in this port, which is a strange mixture of the old and the super-new, they can do virtually anything a vessel on combat duty needs to have done. Much of the work is highly secret.

There is complete co-operation between British, United States and Canadian Navy authorities to ensure no wasted time. On a Canadian corvette you might well find Canadian and American sailors working side by side to get a job done.

ANCIENT ARMAMENT

High up on a hill, in an old mansion, the British commandant of the port has his office. It overlooks the bay and dockyards. And not far away the ancient guns of another fighting age still point out to sea, here a gun presented to the port authority by Queen Elizabeth, there a gun presented by the Honorable Company of Merchant Tailors of the City of London.

At night the port becomes a roistering seaside town. Civilians are too much in evidence. It is no fun jostling in the crowd that swarms the narrow, black-out streets—streets jammed with Canadian British and American sailors and American soldiers and workmen. Hotels are jam-packed. Clubs and hotel lounges ring to the thumping of "hot" pianos pounded by shore-going sailors and the lusty singing of men who know the songs of the deep south, the latest popular hits, the music of French Canada and the Far West.

GIVE NO TROUBLE

But the men are orderly. Officers of the Royal Ulster constabulary, burly fellows in dark green uniforms, says they have little trouble, even when the port is crowded with ships and men.

Many of the Canadians when they are in port don't bother much about going downtown. They play baseball or football against men from sister ships. Or, like Sub-Lt. Donald (Bim) Waters, of Ottawa, a destroyer signals officer, and bearded Sub-Lt. Ken Meredith, of Vancouver, navigating officer on the same ship, they go bike riding outside the town when the weather is good.

CANADIANS IN AFRICAN FIGHT

P.O. R. V. Manning, Vancouver, Sets Fire to Tanker Off Egypt

CAIRO, Oct. 28 (CP).—Canadian airmen are playing a part in the R.A.F. stirring fight in aid of the 8th Army in the western desert. It was disclosed today when the names of two Canadians who took part in Monday's slashing attack on supply ships off Tobruk were released.

One pilot in the operation was P.O. R. V. Manning, of Vancouver, who launched a torpedo against a tanker, blowing off its stern. The entire ship with its vital cargo blazed up.

The air gunner of another torpedo-carrying plane was Sgt. K. B. Taylor, of Preeceville, Sask., who forced Italian fighters to break off an attack.

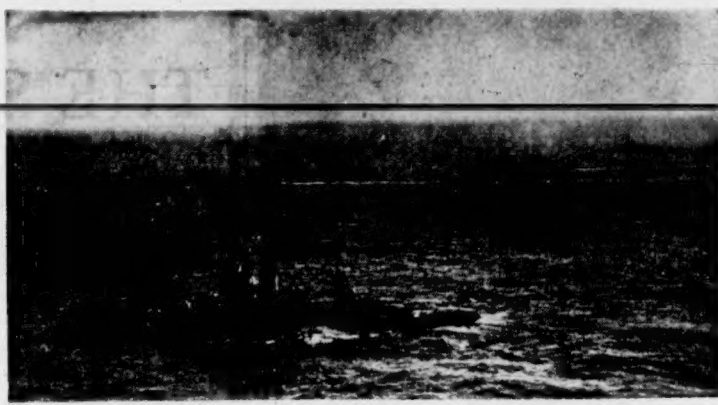

Pictures taken by reconnaissance aircraft showed that of the three supply ships under attack by the R.A.F. torpedo bombers and medium bombers of the South African Air Force, two were sunk and the other remained afloat as a smoldering wreck.

BRAVE HEAVY FIRE
The three ships were sighted in the morning. Despite heavy fire from escorting destroyers and opposition from enemy fighters, the attacks were pressed home by wave after wave of Allied aircraft until nightfall.

The tanker which Manning's torpedo struck was also hit hard on bow and stern by bombs from South African medium bombers which were under strong fighter protection by the R.A.F.

Ships of Royal Navy in Indian Ocean

Just received is this picture of four units of the British Eastern Fleet now revealed to be operating in the Indian Ocean. They are H.M.S. Warspite, nearest camera, flagship of Admiral Sir James Somerville, H.M.S. Illustrious, aircraft carrier; H.M.S. Resolution, and H.M.S. Royal Sovereign. It is possible that this picture, made recently, was taken in the Indian Ocean.

U.S. WILL TRAIN PARATROOPERS

Canadians Continue Studies—Americans Going to Camp Shilo

OTTAWA, Oct. 28 (CP).—Under a reciprocal agreement now nearing completion, Canadian parachute troops will continue to train in the United States during the Winter while Canadian parachute training facilities at Camp Shilo, Minn., will be used by the United States Army to give cold weather tests to certain articles of equipment.

The announcement was made by the Defence Department.

The nucleus of Canada's first parachute battalion was sent to the United States Army's parachute training school at Fort Benning, Ga., several months ago and has since returned to Canada to start organizing the battalion at Shilo, where a Canadian school is being created.

Difficulties in getting certain items of equipment delayed the complete installation of facilities at Shilo and arrangements were made for further contingents of parachute volunteers to receive their training at Fort Benning.

The agreement now nearing completion will continue these arrangements through the Winter.

MATTEOTTI IN RAID ON ITALY

Son Strikes Back at Fascists Who Killed Father In 1924

BERNE, Switzerland, Oct. 28 (CP).—A Swiss newspaper reported today that a son of Giacomo Matteotti, the Italian socialist deputy who was killed in May, 1924, by members of the Fascist Party he so bitterly opposed, led one of the R.A.P. squadrons which Sunday night bombed Milan, Turin and other points in Northern Italy.

Authoritative sources in London had no comment to make on the report.

The report was published by the Socialist newspaper Libera Stampa, of Lugano, which said it was obtained from a Polish flyer whose plane crashed in Italian territory when hit by anti-aircraft fire during the Sunday raids but who managed to escape across the Swiss frontier, where he surrendered to Swiss officials.

This officer said his squadron was led by the son of Matteotti.

Swing Continues Downwards on New York Mart

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—The stock market today continued the reactionary swing which got into motion Tuesday, and various leaders closed fractions to around a point lower.

Looking at the day's news, including a fresh budget of third quarter earnings statements, as a secondary influence, brokers talked mainly of the market's technical structure and the reasonableness of a corrective decline after its long climb to peak levels since last November.

The Associated Press sixty-stock average had a closing decline of 2 of a point at 39.6. Of the 722 stocks traded 428 were down, 131 advanced and 193 were unchanged.

Transactions totaled 496,850 shares, smallest in more than a week, and compared with 628,540 yesterday.

U.S. Steel, Dupont, Allied Chemical and J. C. Penney were a point or more under previous finals at the end. Smaller declines were registered by Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Western Union, Consolidated Edison, Phelps-Dodge, Standard Oil, Eastman Kodak, Standard Oil (N.J.) and Texas Co. Crucible Steel rose 1 1/2 to a new year's high and the preferred picked up 1 7/8. U.S. Leather "A" was modestly higher on a dividend declaration.

Rails varied only slightly excepting Union Pacific which was up 7 1/8.

NO. 272—EIGHTY-FOURTH YEAR

VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1942

SPORTS SLANTS

By Sir Thomas

LITTLE THINGS COUNT

The little things in life that count, at least that's what the old saying says. The same could be said of sports. Take for instance the case of the Victoria Hockey team. It is a team that has been playing for some time now, and it is a team that has been playing for some time now. It is a team that has been playing for some time now, and it is a team that has been playing for some time now. It is a team that has been playing for some time now, and it is a team that has been playing for some time now.

GOOD PROSPECTS

For the first time in years, the Victoria Hockey team has been playing for some time now. It is a team that has been playing for some time now, and it is a team that has been playing for some time now. It is a team that has been playing for some time now, and it is a team that has been playing for some time now. It is a team that has been playing for some time now, and it is a team that has been playing for some time now.

FOUR SENIOR CLUBS ENTER RUGBY LEAGUE

Navy, Naval College, Army and R.A.F. Will Go After Barnard Cup

Back for the first time since the war, the Barnard Cup, long a symbol of the title, will be an all-services affair this year. The Royal Canadian Navy, Royal Air Force, Army and Naval College, all taking part in the senior set-up. Missing from this season's race will be the J.R.A.A. who for many years have been playing in local Rugby circles. With the majority of their members now in the armed forces, the R.A.A. is considered to be a club for the 1942-43 campaign.

There is nothing a symbol of the strength of the service forces, but at the moment the R.A.A. is considered to be a club for the 1942-43 campaign. There is nothing a symbol of the strength of the service forces, but at the moment the R.A.A. is considered to be a club for the 1942-43 campaign.

Carmen Amaya and her fiery Gypsy troupe, arrived in town today from Vancouver. They will appear at the Royal tonight at 8:30, in one of their spectacular performances.

Hailed as one of the greatest of flamenco dancers of all time, Miss Amaya came to this country in 1941 with an awesome reputation, to which such critical celebrities as Arturo Toscanini and Leopold Stokowski testified. The former stated: "Never in my life have I seen a dancer with such fire, rhythm and such a terrifying and wonderful personality." The latter said: "She has the devil in her body."

It did not take long for New York to understand that these were understatement. Walter Terry of The Herald-Tribune dubbed her "the human Vesuvius." John Martin, of The Times, found her "speedy, intense, and brimming with physical excitement."

This incendiary dancer has been burning since she was four years old. At the age of seven she was a featured attraction at the Barcelona Exposition and later on a programme with Raquel Meller in Paris. She headlined in the "Folies Bergere" and has appeared at the theatres throughout Portugal and Spain.

At the outbreak of the Spanish Civil War she left for a tour of South America and Mexico. Her success prompted her to take up residence in Buenos Aires, where a theatre was named after her, and she became the boast of the "aficionados."

STORY OF GOLD RUSH AT PLAZA

"Girl From Alaska" Stars Ray Middleton and Jean Parker—"Sierra Sue" Is Second Feature

"Girl From Alaska," a Republic picture, which opens at the Plaza Theatre today, is the story of a quest for gold. The story of men turned killers by the lure of gold—a girl finding protection in the custody of a renegade. A strange story of love in the Alaskan wilds.

Ray Middleton is starred with Jean Parker and supporting cast includes Jerome Cowan, Robert H. Barrat and Ray Mala.

EAST SIDE KIDS IN RIO FEATURE

Thrilling Spy Drama, "Let's Get Tough," Stars Gabriel Dell, Tom Brown and Florence Rice

Appearance in class plays while he was attending DeWitt Clinton High School in New York City, marked the beginning of the theatrical career of Gabriel Dell, who comes to the Rio Theatre with his fellow East Side Kids today in the Monogram spy drama, "Let's Get Tough." Dell, the son of a doctor, was so successful that his parents sent him to the Professional Children's School, and some time afterward he made his first professional appearance in the stage play, "The Good Earth."

Principal adult roles in "Let's Get Tough," are enacted by Tom Brown, Florence Rice and Robert Armstrong.

"THE BUGLE SOUNDS" COMES TO CADET BILL

The United States Army plays a spectacular starring role with Wallace Beery at the Cadet Theatre opening today in "The Bugle Sounds," story of the new mechanized forces.

The result is a picture of realistic action, with the regular army enacting its stirring role in the contemporary plan of defense. Thousands of tanks, simulating wartime conditions, plunge across the screen. Dive bombers drop their "eggs" and soldiers run, ride and crawl for cover. The shots were filmed under supervision of army officers assigned for the purpose.

The picture presents Beery as a veteran cavalry sergeant, thoroughly disgusted when horses are abandoned in favor of tanks.

"HOLIDAY INN" ON ATLAS BILL

New Irving Berlin Musical Has Fred Astaire and Bing Crosby in Leading Masculine Roles

It isn't often that an Irving Berlin musical hits the screen, but there's one opening at the Atlas Theatre today. It's the song-filled, laugh-filled Paramount musical, dancing picture, "Holiday Inn," starring Bing Crosby and Fred Astaire, with Marjorie Reynolds, Virginia Dale and Walter Abel.

For his latest film Mr. Berlin has written more new songs than have ever been composed for any one picture before. Eleven brand new hits, among them "White Christmas" and "Be Careful, It's My Heart," is something of a record even for America's foremost words-and-music man. As if eleven new Berlin songs weren't enough to set "Holiday Inn" head and shoulders above any other musical ever made, there are two old Berlin favorites thrown in for good measure, "Lazy" and "Easter Parade."

HEDY LAMARR ON OAK BAY SCREEN

Glamorous Star Definitely Becomes Outstanding Dramatic Actress in "I Take This Woman"

Hedy Lamarr definitely becomes an outstanding dramatic actress in her first American picture background, in "I Take This Woman," opening at the Oak Bay Theatre tonight in which she is co-starred with Spencer Tracy, one of the screen's greatest actors.

The story of a social butterfly who, when her romance crashes, finds sanctuary and finally real love, is a new destiny at the side of an earnest, faithful scientist. "I Take This Woman" follows "Lady

"Devil Bat," which was awarded the Chicago Horror Club's gold medal, as "best horror film of the year," is a sensational spine-tingling thriller wherein Lugosi as a vengeance-bent genius develops the "Devil Bat," a hideous killer, to seek revenge on his enemies. SCORPIO—If October 29 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:15 to 11:15 a.m., from 1:15 to 3:15 p.m., and from 7:15 to 9:15 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:15 to 9:15 a.m., from 5:15 to 7:15 p.m., and from 9:15 to 11:15 p.m.

You should win much appreciation if you cater to the wants of those near and dear to you. You may be able to accomplish far more by frankness than you will by resorting to equivocation, for ambiguous statements or replies are likely to arouse a feeling of suspicion. October 29 ought to be a day on which you can afford to overlook mistakes, particularly if you recognize that they have been made unintentionally. Give inconsiderate individuals a copious dose of their own medicine and they probably will find it most unpalatable. You have much to lose and nothing to gain by putting up with annoyance, so do whatever you can to nip them in the bud as soon as you become conscious of their existence. Married and engaged couples, as well as those whose courtships show progress, must realize that no question can be satisfied satisfactorily unless it is discussed freely with open minds.

If you are a woman and October 29 is your birthday, develop your senses of taste, and smell, especially if you are a housekeeper, and you will save yourself many embarrassing moments. You may have a "heavy hand" when it comes to sweetening, seasoning or measuring out ingredients, so do nothing by guesswork. Your activity as an interior decorator, restaurant manager, teacher, writer, purchasing agent, trained nurse or dietitian may win you the admiration and praise of your business associates. Be tactful and combine praise, flattery and encouragement, and you may find that you have discovered the secret of matrimonial happiness.

The child born on October 29 never should be tied too much to his mother's apron strings if he is to develop proper initiative. By developing latent talents, Scorpio children usually find the way to the topmost rung of the ladder of success.

If you are a man and October 29 is your natal day, be lavish with politeness, for it costs nothing and it will bring its own reward. Have wholesome respect for legal technicalities and rules and you will have little about which to worry. As a merchant, broker, builder, contractor, contact man, surgeon, soldier, aviator, seaman or government employee, you can expect a fine reward for hard work well done.

OF THIS AND THAT

Among the items required to build one Canadian corvette are: 1,000 tons of steel shapes and plates for the hull alone; ten miles of piping and tubing; fourteen tons of anchor chain; thirty-eight tons of copper wire; 1,300 bronze valves weighing from less than half a pound to more than 700 pounds; and 600 electric light bulbs.

Most of us never think of how much must be inspected, how much must be known about the body. Its symptoms that are serious and its symptoms that are not serious. If we are to remain well, there is inspection of eyes, ears, nose, throat, lungs; bronchial tubes; heart with its sounds, size, power, rate, liver—whether it is doing its various jobs; gall bladder and its emptying bile; the stomach and its ability to prepare food for indigestion; the small intestine which does most of the digesting and from which the blood absorbs the nourishment from the food; the large intestine and its ability to get rid of wastes; the condition of the kidneys and whether they are removing wastes properly; the pressure of the blood stream and condition of the blood vessels; the blood itself and its red and white corpuscles.

Then, food, exercise, rest must be discussed before the physician is through with his inspection.

This inspection not only wards off serious damage or wear of the parts of the body, but gives that feeling of safety that enables the individual to work or play within safe limits.
